

VOSH Alliance Program

VOSH establishes Alliances through a written agreement with an organization.

Alliances support VOSH's strategic goals by conducting collaborative activities that emphasize:

- Raising awareness through outreach and communication.
- Sharing information on VOSH's regulatory and enforcement activities.
- Conducting best practice seminars
- Providing opportunities for VOSH to speak or exhibit at conferences and meetings.
- Creating and sharing compliance assistance materials.
- Developing and delivering training and education programs to employers and workers.

Criteria and Fundamental Requirements for Alliances

Alliance participants work with VOSH to help ensure safe, healthy workplaces for America's workers.

In assessing Alliances to pursue, VOSH will consider factors such as:

- Alignment of the proposed goals with VOSH's strategic priorities.
- Capability of potential participants to achieve goals with sufficient knowledge and expertise.
- Ability to address emerging workplace safety and health issues.
- Demonstrated commitment of potential participants for working cooperatively with VOSH.
- Ability to conduct outreach to high-hazard industries and at-risk workers.

Alliance participants agree to key requirements as a condition of participation:

- Share VOSH updates, campaigns, and resources with members and stakeholders.
- Dedicate time and resources to support Alliance goals and projects.
- Encourage members to participate in VOSH outreach efforts.
- Provide VOSH with relevant data on Alliance activities and impact.
- Promote meaningful worker participation in Alliance initiatives.
- Follow VOSH guidelines for creating and sharing free, public Alliance materials.

Benefits of an Alliance

- Increase worker access to effective workplace safety and health tools.
- Leverage resources to maximize worker safety and health protections.
- Establish progressive dialogue with the agency and others committed to workplace safety and health.
